The Influence of Climate Change and the Discriminatory Effects of Zoning Policies Concerning Affordable Housing Developments in South Florida

Global Environmental Justice Conference 2019 - Yale School of Forestry & Environmental Studies

Theresa Pinto, M.S., J.D. (2020) MAMILAW

Live octopus native to South Florida waters is photographed in a flooded parking garage on Miami Beach.

Aggregated demographic data of all persons who spoke at public hearings on housing developments in one of three municipalities in South Florida for the years 2017-2018-2019 (partially collected).

	White	Black	Brown	M	F	Above MHV +	Below MHV +
YES for affordable housing	8	15	8	12	20	X	XX
NO on affordable housing	31	5	22	29	27	X	XX

Maps showing development based on environmental factors along the South Florida coral rock ridge and the discriminatory effects of that development

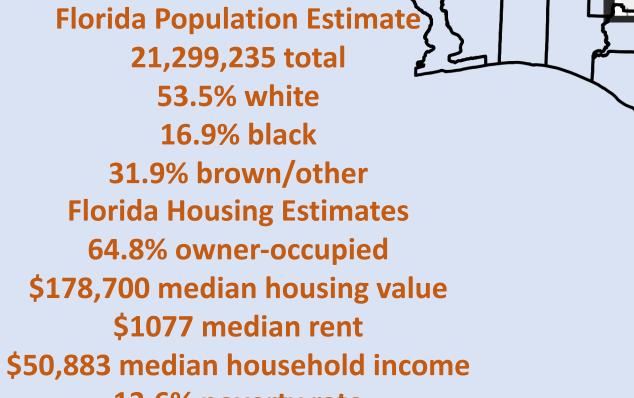

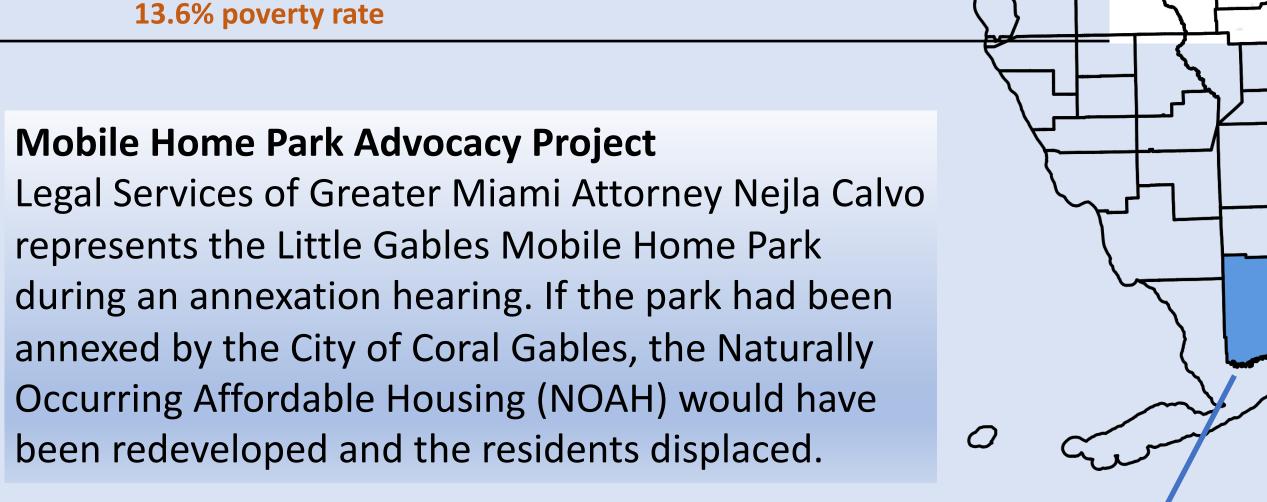

MAMPOADE COUNTY
TRANSIT SYSTEM

**CHARLES SHOTE**

**LINES SHOTE**

**LINE

Country Club

North Central

Model C

Perrine
Goulds - Cutler Ridge
Naranja - Princeton

Leisure City

Map of Miami redlining circa 1950s Courtesy of the National Archives & Records Administration

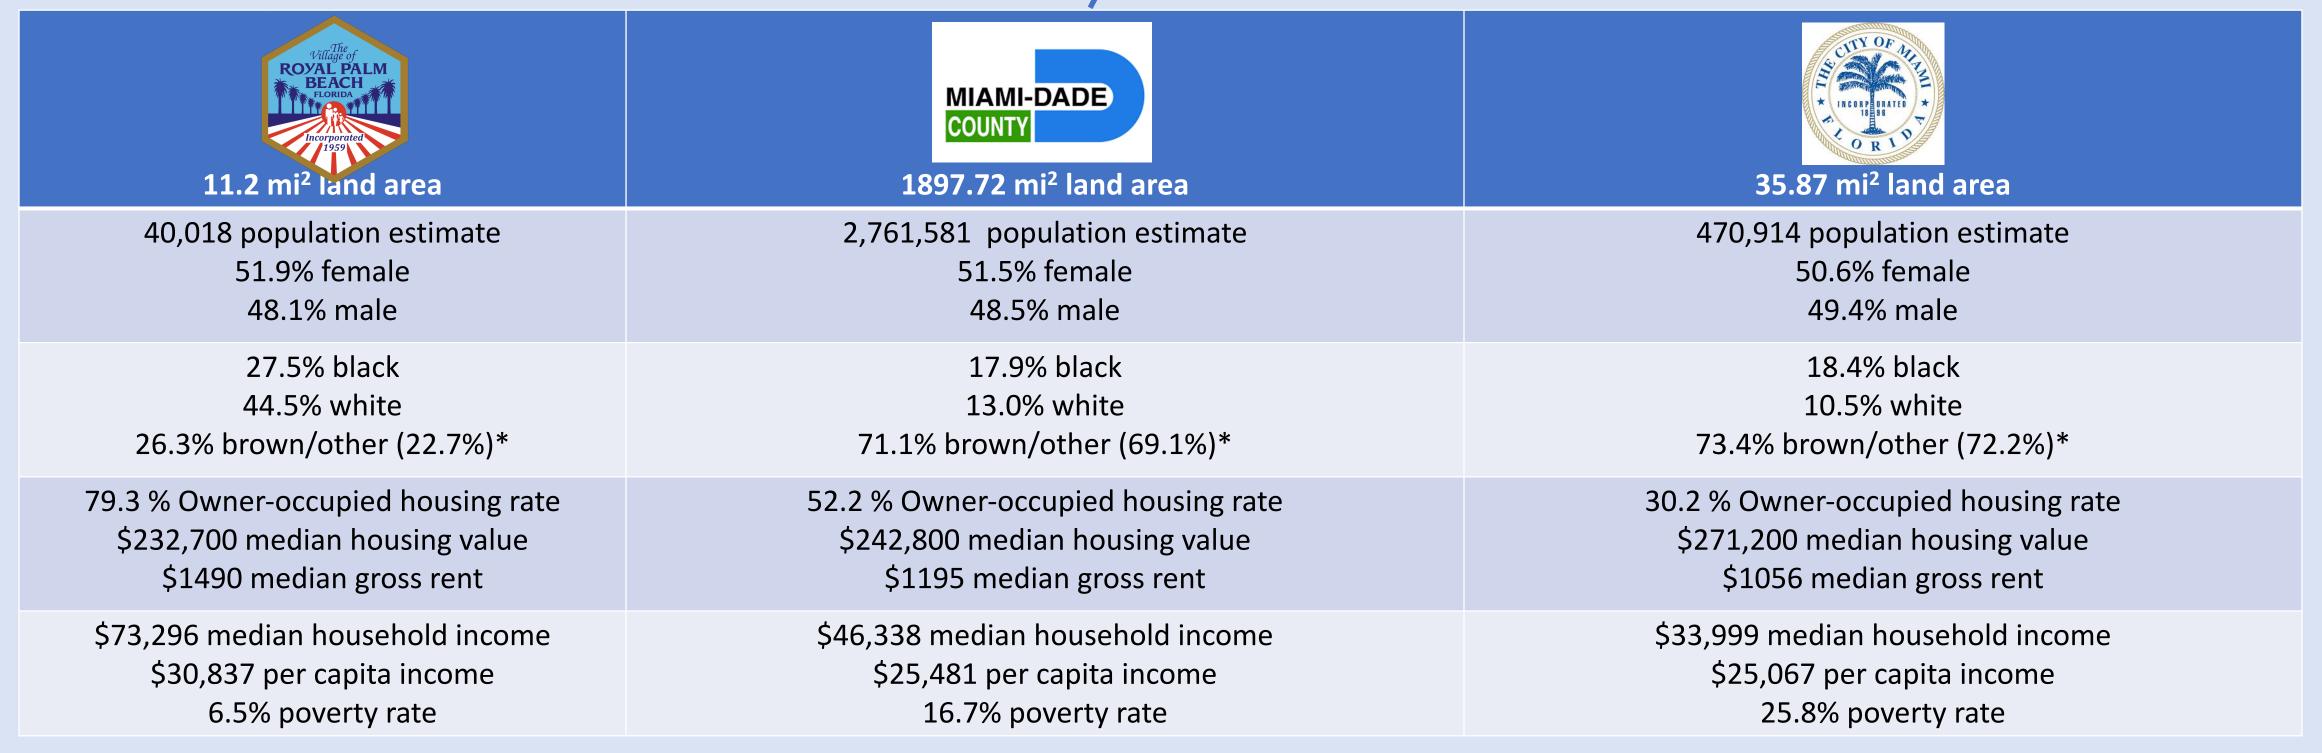

GREATER MIAMI

Photovoicing presentation product by Nicole Gazo, a senior at Miami Palmetto Senior High School, who took part in the Climate Design Lab at the Van Alen Institute during the summer of 2019. Joanna Lombard and Gina Maranto at the University of Miami Abess Center for Ecosystem Science & Policy designed and implemented the Photovoice project for the Climate Design Lab.

XXXIII(K) amended June 2019.

From § 33-284.81 Standard Urban Center District

Regulations, Code of Miami-Dade County Article

Data collected from the United States Census Bureau 2017-2018 data

*Percentages represent self-identified white Hispanic/Latino population

